CHALONER AGAIN ON WARPATH

Scores Committee in Charge of His Estate.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—Joseph H. Chaloner and Thomas T. Sherman, who have charge of the estate of John Armstrong Chaloner, of New York, have refused to approve of a contribution by Chaloner of $200 to the Belgian relief fund. This declaration has aroused Chaloner, who has sent to Gov. Stuart, of Virginia, the following copy of a letter to Mr. Chaloner:

"Your absolutely tricky and evasive letter refusing to advise Sherman (Chaloner's committee) to subscribe for the governor of Virginia received and proven you and Sherman the shysters I've always thought you. I shall send a copy of your letter to me and my reply thereto to his excellency, Henry C. Stuart, governor of Virginia, to give him an idea of the depth to which the bar of New York has sunk. Very sincerely yours, JOHN ARMSTRONG CHALONER."

Hearing Delays Licenses.

Because of the legal technicalities that hinge on the transfer of a retail liquor license to Preston E. and Edgar A. Miller, at 501 Fourteenth street northwest, the excise board, which held a hearing on the matter, has postponed its decision until the early part of next week. Permission to file formal applications for retail licenses have been given Michael Rafferty, at 190 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and Edward J. Glavin, 309 G street northwest, and if all these licenses are granted the 30 licenses allowed in the District under the new excise law will be completed.

Educators Meet in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 20.—Educators who have taken up the problem of delinquent or unfortunate children are in session here today at the convention of the National League of Compulsory Education. Among those present are John W. Davis, director of the Bureau of Attendance of New York, and Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, the Chicago school superintendent.

DARKEY'S CLOTHES PUT HIM IN "BOOBY HATCH"

Charles Daniels and Gold-headed Cane Taken to Asylum—Was Far Ahead of Home Town.

Charles Daniels, colored forty-five years old, is at Washington Asylum Hospital—a victim of circumstances. He is being held for observation as to his sanity, when his only crime is that he was too far ahead of his home town.

Daniels is known to nearly all of Washington, especially to the sporting element. None ever said that Daniels wasn't a sport. He is known from Blagden's court to Fourteenth and F streets as a bean ideal—a regular guy and a dandy of parts.

Daniels is the large, comfortably built "gentleman of color" who was always dressed for Sunday—always with a gold-headed cane, a 3-cent cigar, a gray derby hat with spats to match, a diamond ring, patent leather shoes—in fact, all that go to make up the "perfect gentleman." He was far ahead of the most pretentious "racin' nigger" both in social qualities and in dress.

Some will know Daniels because he always swaggered. All have laughed at him at some time. Many know him as one from whom two large almshouses could be borrowed until that check came.

Daniels could always be seen walking up Fourteenth street in the afternoon when he had finished his work as a skilled laborer in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It was the fact that he worked there that caused his arrest. The plodding employees of the department remonstrated with him for years, and it had no effect; in fact, he got worse—they called it worse—as he neared and reached perfection. They asked the police yesterday "come and take him to the cooler."

Detective O'Brien was sent after Daniels, when he was told that he would have said, with an air that would have made the slang seem silver—to the booby hatch. He is there now, his glory taken from him.

PARSON GETS DIVORCE.

Now Wife Who Did Not Defend Suit Is Missing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 20.—It is now the divorced wife of Rev. Louis T. Patmont, the "vanishing parson," who has disappeared. She is gone from her home here, and has left no trace. Telegrams to her parents, who live in Newark, N. J., have brought replies that she has not arrived there.

Yesterday a divorce was granted Patmont at Stevens Point, Wis., in an uncontested suit, in which he alleged his wife was unfit to care for their children, and declared that in Milwaukee she had confessed to him that during his disappearance, when he was supposed to be dead, she had received the attentions of another man.

Mr. Patmont won publicity in the Middle West by his anti-liquor campaign. Last March, while he was waging such a crusade in Westville, Ill., he vanished. His wife declared his life had been threatened by men in sympathy with the saloons. There was a widespread hunt for him.

A farand heard cries issuing in an abandoned house near Columbia, Ill., and found Patmont inside, bound hand and foot. He said he had been kept there by a band of liquor men, who forced him to drink whisky and constantly threatened his life.

At Detroit there came a second disappearance. This was on June 12. He was found in a lumber camp at Rib Lake, Wis. He said he had been scared by threats against his life into quitting crusading.

MODEL LOSES RICH HUSBY.
Beautiful "Irish Queen" Now Back on the "Job." Is Report.

New York, Nov. 20.—According to gossip in the fashionable shops along Fifth avenue, the romance of the most beautiful gown model in New York, Josephine Loughlin, and Walter Richter, son and heir of a Pittsburgh millionaire, ended disastrously. They were married in September, but have separated, after a visit paid the home of Richter's parents in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Richter, as Josephine Loughlin, was known as "The Irish Queen." She is a tall and beautiful brunette. In the recent fashion shows at the Ritz-Carlton and the Plaza she was easily the most dazzling of all the beautiful models who displayed the gowns, furs and millinery creations.

Last Friday she kissed all the other models in the store good-bye, formally resigned and announced she was going to Pittsburgh to take her place in society.

She returned to Bender's Wednesday, applied for and received her old position.

PREPARE FOR COTTON POOL.

Members of Loan Committee Hold Meeting in New York.

New York, Nov. 20.—Members of the cotton loan committee, which will have charge of handling the $125,000,000 pool, held a meeting today at the Federal reserve bank and discussed plans for organization as well as drawing up subscription forms and the like.

W. P. G. Harding and Paul M. Warburg, members of the Federal Reserve Board; S. E. Ward, W. P. Hollis, E. R. Tinker and A. H. Willard attended.

Mr. Harding said progress was being made and ventured the prediction that the cotton pool would clear up the whole commercial situation in the South, as it would put the planter in possession of funds that could be turned over to the merchant, who in turn could pay off his bank loans.

TURKEYS MAY BE HELD UP.
Foot-and-mouth Quarantine May Seal Up Eastern Shore Shipments.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 20.—To permit Eastern Shore poultry growers to get out their Thanksgiving shipments of turkeys and cattle, President Harry P. Skipper, of the State live stock sanitary board, made a special plea today that Talbot, Caroline, and Queen Anne counties be not quarantined until next week. Mr. Skipper arrived in Baltimore today from the Eastern Shore, where he has been fighting the foot-and-mouth disease for the past week. The cattle scourge already invaded Talbot and Caroline counties, and other members of the State board and Dr. W. C. Siegmund, head of the Federal forces, all believe the three counties should go under the ban.

Edwards' Bond Renewed.
John H. Edwards, Third Assistant Secretary of the Treasury during the Roosevelt administration, whose arrest was ordered and his bond of $500 forfeited when he failed to answer a charge of non-support brought by his wife, is on speaking terms with the police again. His bond was renewed by Chief Justice Covington when it was explained that Edwards had no knowledge of the hearing set by the judge for the case.

WILSON ADDRESSES
LABOR CONVENTION

Cabinet Official Says There Can Be No Industrial Peace that Is Not Based Upon Justice to Labor.

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—After two days of jurisdiction wrangles, the American Federation of Labor convention today began considering a proposition for keeping jurisdiction disputes out of future conventions. Chairman James O'Connell, of the adjustment committee, offered a resolution calling for the establishment of an arbitration department of three members to have power in solving all disputes between the unions composing the federation.

The proposal will be taken under consideration for one year. It will be decided by the 1915 convention.

Labor's representative in the President's Cabinet appeared before the convention today to tell the delegates of 2,000,000 union men in the United States and Canada that the unions were the greatest force for industrial justice existing.

The arrival of William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, at the convention today was a homecoming. For forty-three years he has been a member of the United Mine Workers of America.

"There can be no industrial peace," he said, "that is not based upon industrial justice of labor. You men are fighting for industrial justice. My department is doing its best to bring it about—industrial justice for labor and for its employers at one and the same time."

SIDDONS APPEALS TO NEGROES' CIVIC PRIDE.

Tells Them "Rights" Should Always Give Way—May Have Meant White House Incident.

An appeal to negroes to think less of "rights" and more of civic duty was voiced last night by Commissioner Siddons at the annual meeting of the Colored Social Settlement at Metropolitan A. M. E. Church. Some believed his words to be a sort of reply to the recent protest of negroes to President Wilson against segregation in government departments.

Mr. Siddons made no remark to show his thoughts were upon the White House incident.

"It has been said that the colored race is more sensitive to religious matters than to a consciousness of civic duty," said the Commissioner. "I venture to say that religious emotion gets us but a little way toward solution of the problems which confront us today. I appeal to the colored residents of this District to think less of rights and more of civic duty."

"Christ talked little of rights, but much of duty. Colored people have a peculiar duty to that social settlement which devotes itself particularly to colored people."

W. L. Washington, resident director of the Colored Social Settlement, gave a report of its work during the last year. Dr. Charles F. Nesbit, head of the insurance department of the District, told what work he had done to protect the ignorant among the colored against unscrupulous insurance men.

Health Officer Woodward spoke of the relations between social settlement and the District government in regard to health matters. Mrs. Charlotte Everett Hopkins and Howard Reeside spoke.

ARCHIE'S NOW A "DICKEY."

Colonel's Son Rides Goat with One Arm in a Sling.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—Archie H. Roosevelt, son of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, is the first Harvard collegian to ride the "Dickey" goat with one arm in a sling. For a week Archie, as a candidate for the "D. K. E.," delivered morning newspapers and ran other errands for members of the exclusive Harvard society.

When the time came for his final initiation Archie appeared with his left arm in a sling, the result of a gash inflicted while shaving. The razor slipped, and the blade, striking the left forearm, sliced open a gash that required eight stitches.

Archie went through the initiation at a hand gallop, according to report, and took his final pledges.

NAMED WASHINGTON PROVINCE

Episcopal Synod So Designates New Church Division.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 20.—The third province of the Episcopal church has been designated as Washington Province by the primary synod, which is meeting here.

The Right Rev. B. D. Tucker, coadjutor Bishop of Southern Virginia, filed his committee's report on permanent organization at the initial gathering of the synod.

It was announced that $24,649.07 has been given for mission work in this province during the past year. The province includes the States of Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The raising of an additional $1,000.00 to take the place of the support formerly given the mission work in the States of Virginia and Maryland was again urged and a number of fervent prayers were offered for the province.
